Visual IQ: Using Artificial Intelligence to Predict Performance

Visual IQ works by applying AI technology to a brand's Instagram imagery and historical performance data. The machine learning tool can organize a brand's owned, earned, and competitive content into segments, to uncover trends and content styles that have the potential to generate a higher share of engagement. In the owned section of Visual IQ, Goody discerned that they should be sharing more quirky quotes to drive engagement. In terms of community content, the team learned that images of interesting braids and hairstyles would perform well on the brand's Instagram.
